If it is detected that a fighter competed in a class too low, according to his belt or ability this can lead to disqualification. Not making the weight also leads to disqualification. Not following the rules can lead to loss of points – severe violation of rules also may lead to disqualification, even to a ban for the whole tournament.

Paid entry fee will not be refunded in case of disqualification or not showing up. It is only allowed to compete in one age category in each class. So for example in Gi competition you can not compete adult & masters.

The organizer keeps the right to combine classes. But it will be only either one weight category or one age category or one belt category. This means you will be either set in your age category one weight category higher or you will be set in your weight category one age category lower or in your age and weight category one belt higher.

If in case fighters still are the only fighters in their category, they can decide whether they get their money back, or they can receive their gold medal to compete in open class.
